

Suzanne Thornsby, PhD

Suzanne Thornsby is a Cross-Commodity Economist in the Crops Branch of the Markets and Trade Economics Division of USDA's Economic Research Service. Her primary responsibilities are in specialty crop markets, including mushrooms, vegetables, dry pulses and fruit. Areas of research are global produce markets and international trade, food safety, market structure, and technological change. Prior to joining ERS in 2012, Suzanne was an Associate Professor in Agricultural, Food, and Resource Economics at Michigan State University where her focus was horticulture markets and international trade. She received her PhD in Agricultural Economics from Virginia Tech.